INTRO

A REPORT ON THE CYBERBULLYING SURVEY

INTRODUCTION

As online bullying is increasingly more wide-spread among teenagers, it's become a usual practice. ~~Our students were highly~~ ^{to do online bullying} ~~acceptive~~ of the idea of a survey, ~~therefore a responses was unlike anything we've seen before.~~ ^{the number of} ~~With~~ ^{In (proportion)} the collaboration with The Cyberbullying Research Center, we've conducted a survey ^{on cyberbullying} among our students. The aim of this report therefore is to share our findings. ✓

SOCIAL NETWORKS

Most respondents ✓ have selected Instagram, Snapchat ^{Discord} ~~and~~ ~~Facebook~~ as their primary ✓ sources of entertainment and communication. ^{Of those} Instagram is the one with the highest rate of cyberbullying, nearly doubling ^{the number of bullying messages of} the next ^{contestant} Snapchat, which could be attributed to its ^{the} high ^{addictiveness.} ~~avoid those~~

TYPES OF ONLINE BULLYING

There are many types of online bullying [?] ~~as~~ ^{per} our survey. Most report demotivational speech, such as "You're not worth it!" etc. The second type of online bullying is sexual ^{harassment} and threats, ~~which~~ among which extortion is by far the most used type, as it's said to be the easiest to carry out and ^{believe to.} ^{what do you mean?}

REASONS

There are many reasons (on) why there has been an increasing ^(cyberbullying has less on the risk) number of reports of cyberbullying, such as unmoderated chatrooms and increasing numbers of software that allow for easier communication ^{peers} among ^{between peers.} Yet, the most commonly referred cause is the increasing population with mobile phones, therefore increasing the ^{surface} of potential victims, as many carry their phones ^{every} with them.

CONCLUSION

As a student, it's horrifying to witness such harmful behaviour targeted at teenagers, my peers, ~~therefore~~ Had it not been without the Research Center's survey, we would not have seen the problem. ~~I have forwarded the conclusion to the school management and it is reported that it's being wa~~
Therefore, I'm eternally grateful for this chance. ~~and we'd love to collaborate with~~
