PRESENT

5. Circle the correct word or phrase (10p)

Dear Lisa,

Thanks for your letter. I (1) just left / ~~had just left~~ for school when I saw the postman and he (2) gave / ~~had given~~ it to me. It was really funny! I (3) read / ~~had read~~ it during maths and it (4) made / ~~had made~~ me laugh. I almost (5) got / ~~had got~~ in trouble!

Anyway, I'm excited because I (6) had / ~~had had~~ my first judo lesson yesterday. I (7) was / ~~had been~~ late for the lesson because when I (8) got / ~~had got~~ there, I suddenly realised I (9) left / ~~had left~~ my judo suit at home! So I (10) went / ~~had gone~~ all the way home and when I (11) got / ~~had got~~ back, the lesson (12) already began / ~~had already begun~~. The instructor was really nice, though, and I (13) learned / ~~had learned~~ how to do some basic throws. Can't wait till next time!

What about you and your taekwondo? The last time I (14) spoke / ~~had spoken~~ to you, you (15) talked / ~~had talked~~ about giving it up. What (16) did you decide / ~~had you decided~~? I think that's all for now. My mum and I are going shopping shortly, so I'd better post this. Speak to you soon.

Love,

Charlotte

6. GAP FILL; write one word in each gap (10 P)

Does what we wear matter?

In spite of there (1) is some truth in the expression 'Never judge a book by its cover', which reminds us that appearances can be deceptive, there (2) is to be far more truth in the expression 'You never get a second chance to make a first impression'. There are plenty (3) of examples of people who have insisted (4) on expressing their individuality through their clothing and have suffered for it.

If you are going to wear outrageous clothes, you've got to be prepared (5) for the reaction of others. That reaction may not be positive. You may be stared (6) upon, criticised (7) for wearing something unusual, or even insulted. On the other hand, you may be complimented (8) for your style. Location and situation are very important. At a job interview, for (9) example, you should probably be more anxious (10) to please your potential employers than interested in showing off the latest fashions.
